How To Write Fan Fiction

Now you know what you like about the books you've read and movies/tv shows you've watched, so do some brainstorming about what you would like to write. Take the themes and concepts from above and try different combinations. Maybe you want to write a Futuristic Western or a Sci-Fi Comedy.

Take your favorite characters and put them in a different time and place. How would they meet? Fall in love? Switch the personalities or jobs of your favorite characters. Move the pieces around until you have a story that you can work with!
